

Dear FCC,

I listen to XM Satellite Radio and think this is an invaluable resource. It not only provides exceptional variety, but I travel alot and appreciate the quality I receive, not matter where I am in the United States. One of my particular favorites on the XM Radio is the Instant Traffic and weather I recieve via the XM Traffic and Weather updates. This keeps me up to date when I am traveling and is an invaluable service. I applaud XM Radio for making this part of their service, and appreciate the oustanding quality and resources I recieve. It is not up to the National Association of Broadcasters as to whether or not I can receive these services on my XM radio. You should not be stiffling competition and trying to impose limits on others simply because they have a better service and product. Thanks for hearing my comments on this very important matter.

With Regards,

William Morgan
